

I Owe It All to My Heart

Gary Stewart

My drinking days are over
I guess I'm finally over you
I no longer get down wondering what you've been up to
There's not one single memory of you left in my mind
I owe it all to my heart
It's been breaking over time

My arms no longer reach to hold you
Like they've held you for so long
And I'm no longer hung up on hanging on
My tears put out the fire you left burning in my mind
I owe it all to my heart
It's been breaking over time

My lips no longer tremble
Cause they no longer call your name
I've found that tomorrow finds yesterday won't change
So here's to the future and the past we left behind
I owe it all to my heart
It's been breaking over time

My arms no longer reach to hold you...
