

Seeing's Believing

Gary Stewart

You look so fine sitting there at the table
Holding his hand, is he your new man?
I heard some things I just couldn't believe them
But I've seen enough to believe them today

Seeing's believing
So I'll be leaving today
If hurt means I'm dying then carry me away
If teardrops were rivers
That wash your memory away

Seeing's believing
So I'll be leaving today

In this corner through the darkness
I watch you hold him tight
It's true that you love him
It shows in your eyes
Oh I but I still just can't believe
What you've thrown away
But seeing's believing
So I'll be leaving today

Seeing's believing...
