

Human Love

Gary Wright

In the heat of passion my wisdom gets swept away
Trying to hold back I lose control
I feel like I am crashing, I know all the warning signs
Maybe this time I'll find the right sole

It can tear you apart
When you're fighting the voice in your heart
You've got to believe what you feel inside

The sun shines and the rain falls
Through all the years and tears of human love
The wind cries and my heart flies
I need to taste the wine one more time from human love

I feeling this fire like hunger inside my heart
And I am reaching for my dreams, they light my way
But my deepest desires sometimes can tear me apart
Can love me greater than all the suffering I paid

When you walk in the light
Between hope and disperse every time
You've got to believe the truths gonna shine

The sun shines and the rain falls
Through all the years and tears of human love
The wind cries and my heart flies
I need to taste the wine one more time from human love

The sun shines and the rain falls
Through all the years and tears of human love
The wind cries and my heart flies
I need to taste the wine one more time from human love

The sun shines and the rain falls
Through all the years and tears of human love
The wind cries and my heart flies
I need to taste the wine one more time from human love

The sun shines
The wind cries
The sun shines
