We've seen, we've heard
Stories of Your goodness
When lost, we're found
And broken hearts were healed
We've known, we've felt
The power of Your presence
When mountains fell
And every wave was stilled

One look at what You've done
Is a glimpse of what's to come

Every miracle, every step of faith
Every victory rises up to say
We are the monuments
Of Your faithfulness

What life, what death
Could ever separate us
The blood You shed
Will always be enough

One look at what You've done
Is a glimpse of what's to come

Every miracle, every step of faith
Every victory rises up to say
We are the monuments
Of Your faithfulness

Every captive soul, that has been set free
Stand and testify, we have been redeemed
We are the monuments
Of Your faithfulness

These monuments of what You've done
These monuments of Your great love
Every war that You have won
Is just a glimpse of what's to come
These monuments of what You've done
These monuments of Your great love
Every war that You have won
Is just a glimpse of what's to come

Every miracle, every step of faith
Every victory rises up to say
We are the monuments
Of Your faithfulness
Every captive soul, that has been set free
Stand and testify, we have been redeemed
We are the monuments
Of Your faithfulness
