

Where In The World

Gavin Friday

The soul is up for hire, we sold out the heart.
The truth lies deep under our skin,
Bite the hand that gives, kiss the hand that takes. Where in the world can I turn and look to?
Things never change they fade away.
The Church of Love ... it's law and disorder.
We're meant to give more than we take.
Calling Gods on high, it's in your name millions die,
Silenced those who scream, no golden cold image can redeem,
The tongue tells lies, minds deceive.
I turn around and see a finger pointing at me.

Where in the world can I turn and look to?
Things never change they fad away.
The Church of Love ... it's law and disorder
Where cheating hearts can kneel and pray.
Put your feet on the water, play Jesus for the day...
They say the times are a changin', we've woken to our ignorance, truly I believe but I find it hard to see.
Where in the world can I turn and look to?
Things never change they fade away.
The Church of Love... it's law and disorder
We're meant to give more than we take.
Where in the world can I turn and look to?
Things never change they fade away.
The Church of Love ... it's law and disorder
Where cheating hearts can kneel and pray.
