

Better Days

GAWNE

And I don't understand it
Never goes as planned it
I could tell you one million things that didn't go my way
And if you felt you ever had it
Getting up, make it a habit
You better take your shots or some things'll never change
If you want better days
If you want better days
Better days
Better days

Better days, yeah, I know they're coming
My legs get weak, but I keep on running
I had a life, but I didn't love it
Takes time, but love will come in
I know the things that I need
Leave my one reason to breathe
The one thing that matters to me is I never settle in

And I don't understand it
Never goes as planned it
I could tell you one million things that didn't go my way
And if you felt you ever had it
Getting up, make it a habit
You better take your shots or some things'll never change
If you want better days

Yeah, and I don't understand it
Man, I've been praying for some answers
How you supposed to get up while you laid out on the canvas?
I been afraid, panic takes my breath away, asthma
Never cave in, there will be better days after
One hell of a ride
I've been through hell and the fire
From the depths of my despair with nowhere for me to hide
And they say that life is hard, it ain't easy getting by
But sometimes it takes the lows to appreciate the highs
As I reach for the sky, we climb and leave our demons behind
Searching for peace of mind, here's a piece of my mind
I think we should read between the lines
Go and redefine the reason why that we're even alive
Some believe in God and some believe in chance, regardless of the past
I think that there's better days ahead and I'll believe in that

And I don't understand it
Never goes as planned it
I could tell you one million things that didn't go my way
And if you felt you ever had it
Getting up, make it a habit
You better take your shots or some things'll never change
If you want better days
If you want better days
Better days
Better days
