

Pathfinder

Gay Dad

Diver down into the ocean

Take her away

Tell my friends I'm doing fine now

At least today

I watch you breathing

I see you rise and fall

Sometimes it gets so dark

You don't see the sun at all

Sign your name if it makes it better

It could be just like it was

You know that crying won't help you now

If it ever did at all

I can see much further now

Than I ever did before

But I really do appreciate your time

So kiss me like the ocean breeze

Kiss me like you still remember

Come on, kiss me like the ocean breeze

Kiss me like you still remember me

I need to know my friend

Does it hurt, are you in pain?

Do it, clean my friend, take your time

Peace will come again

Would you believe me that I just have to

Want to need, to want to break free?

So kiss me like the ocean breeze

Kiss me like you still remember

Come on, kiss me like the ocean breeze

Kiss me like you still remember me

Kiss me like you still remember

Kiss me like you still remember me

Kiss me like the ocean breeze

Kiss me like you still remember

Kiss me like the ocean breeze

Kiss me like you still remember
