

Bottle-eyed and sitting around in the sun
The water's high and the time hides you there
It all leads to the prize and to the girl in mind
The endless race to the end of the line

It's alright, the end's in sight. Worry fades the soul away
I'll take the hurricane for you
Who am I? Who am I? I couldn't operate
God knows I want it too

It's alright, the end's in sight. Worry fades the soul away
I'll take the hurricane for you
Who am I? Who am I? I couldn't operate
God knows I wanted to

I'm looking out I feel the lights of the cars
Innocence, falling pain
If I make the night, I'm home and dry

You love, in the morning, hearing the city's song
Lay your heart down on mine
No need to cry, we're home and dry

It's alright, the end's in sight. Worry fades the soul away
I'll take the hurricane for you
Who am I? Who am I? I couldn't operate
God knows I wanted to

It's alright, the end's in sight. Worry fades the soul away
I'd take the hurricane for you
Who am I? Who am I? I couldn't sink that stone
God knows I want it, want it, want it, want it all
God knows I want it, want it, want it, want it all