

East

Gaza

When it ends, when heaven comes angels are executioners and cold steel will be the new colors of the Gap. We will use leaf blowers from the Home Depot To clean up the hair and bones.
The scars on our wrists will open.
Some of us will faint before we sleep
Because no one picked up at the NYSE.
We'll count and compare the flowers on our graves and see whose mothers loved them more.