

Lotus Girl

Gazebo

A thousand screaming elephants
And waterfalls that stop
A million Dollar bill that burns
And huge buildings erupt

I can see visions of laughter and of pain in your tears
I can feel prisons of madness in you
Lotus Girl

Like a child crying in the night
Terrorised by the living naught
I've been searching for the relief
Of the touch of your breast
I can only quench my thirst of love
With the salt of your tears

The deepest ocean, highest mountain
Are shallow in your eyes
The hottest lava killing planets
Is smooth and tame for you

I can see visions of laughter and of pain in your tears
I can feel prisons of madness in you
Lotus Girl

I've been searching for the relief
Of the heat of your breast
I can only quench my thirst of love
With the taste of your tongue