

Does He Have A Name?

Gene

God, I've come here for trouble
I invested all my dreams.
I told them we were lovers
Stitched together at the seams
When you're dealing with the heartless,
The beautiful but cruel,
Some are born as victors
I've been losing since the womb.

Oh I wish that you were evil
So I'd have someone to hate,
But you don't give me a reason
And you tell me nothing's changed,
So why is this bed cold now?
Where did we go astray?
I thought we had a lifetime.

And all of the words,
That you threw away
You said I was the one.
At least I mean what I say.
I know you've not slept,
But you will do some day.
Does he have a name?

Ever been let down?
Do you know what life's about?
I'm still in love.
Is that my fault?
Have you ever been let down?

When you do go under covers
As I know you shortly will
Will you scream his name out loudly?
Yes, I want the grubby details
Every smell and every push
I hope he loves you like me.

And all of the words,
That you threw away
You said I was the one.
At least I mean what I say.
I know you've not slept,
You will do one day.
Does he have a name?

Ever been let down?
Do you know what life's about?
Still in love,
Is that my fault?
Have you ever been let down?
