

Exotoxic Septicity

General Surgery

Blistering dermatitis, in the area of trauma
Infected fascia, permeates the left hand limb

Blistering dermatitis
Presence of sepsis generate

Perpetual vomit of infection and vascular occlusion
Widespread congestion, progression of rapid sepsis

Perpetual vomit
Toxins secreted in tissue

Flesh start to rot
Necrotizing fasciitis
Exotoxic septicity
Exotoxic shock

Necessary debridement, the dermis was deposed
Subcutaneous injection, into the dorsum

Cultures were crucial
To determine the bacterial agents involved

Flesh gone to rot
Necrotizing fasciitis
Exotoxic septicity
Exotoxic shock

Inflammatory response
Flesh gone to rot
Followed
By death