

It may be hard to say it's all over
You make it hard to frame the right cover You're taking off but take it no further You take apart the brains to start over

When all at once it's safe to move on we should
And all the promises we were made were good

Any way you want to say it was only your fear they were preying
on Any way you want to say it was always your tears they were wait ing on, dear

When all you want's to say you're not there That's not to say the neighbors won't care
It only works to play the right player
When all that hurts to say, you won't say it

When all at once it's safe to move on we should

on
ing on, dear

on
ing on, dear
