Gatekeeper

Generationals

Wouldn't it be something if all of your predictions were right
Getting your attention is too easy a thing to achieve
Twenty-five years is longer than it took to decide

And so I won't
Make that choice again
'Cause it won't mean so much
If I edit what I say

Holding on tight to feelings that could never come true
Was it really worth the pain that you would put yourself throug h
Holding back tears is all that you could do to survive

And so I won't
Risk it all again
'Cause it would mean so much to see this to the end

And so I won't
Risk it all again
'Cause it would mean so much to see this to the end