

It Took a Minute

Generacionals

It took a minute
But I kept telling myself that doesn't look right
I'm a martyr if I'm in a bad combination
And I was a paladin there tonight

It took a minute
And you were gone down Hagan Avenue
Am I too late, am I too slow
I would want to be there too

And when they say "Where were you?"
What does it matter that they wanted to know
When they look back and where were you
Where did you go?

It took a minute
And that's a minute I wish you had turned to me
You're a testament to living in isolation
I should know you really don't have to be

It took a minute
And you were gone down Hagan Avenue
I hear you really don't look back
Don't you remember like we used to?

And when they say "Where were you?"
What does it matter that they wanted to know
When they look back and where were you
Where did you go?
