

Save This For Never

Generational

I'm hoping that you found a reason to believe it
There's nothing else you could do
I'm guessing you could feel relief
When all your friends think it too

I wouldn't take it so far
I know that pages still are empty
And I'm not here to concede
One day you'll break my heart, it's true

You wouldn't wait

I'm guessing outside the reasons you stated
There's nothing keeping you here
I'm hoping all this time you waited
You were keeping it loose

I wouldn't do you so dirty
Friends would never say it
And I'm not judging the tears
I couldn't wait for you to face up to the truth

You look away, was it really that bad?
You can't pretend you wasted all the feelings you had
Let's not pretend at all, the reasons you're back
There's not a single soul who believes it's all bad