

Strangers

Generational

You don't get to be both
A sinner and saint
Sometimes it's more about
What you are
Than what you ain't

The name you gave yourself
I forgot at once
Yeah, that's a negative
That's the reason why I walked

If you could only say for me the reasons why
I should wait this long
All night with the give and take
And strangers who could take our place

The long time it takes to move you
And walk down that road
I wanna find some space to free me up

Oh man, it seems like years
I feel it in my broken bones
I'm holding out to keep that fate unknown

If you could only say for me the reasons why
I should wait this long
All night with the give and take
And strangers who could take our place

If you could only say for me the reasons why
I should wait this long
All night with the give and take
And strangers who could take our place
