

Save Me

Gentle Bones

Maybe I'm dead now, the day is so still
How do I run from the truth that is you
The island is calling, they say I'm at fault
Don't say I'm the one when we know that I'm not

Quit using the sheets for the love that we've lost
Not a day I regret that with you I'm engrossed
Someday or somehow I'll make you return my heart
And you'd be calling

Save me, save me, I loved you for an eternity
Save me, love me, can't help but feel the other side of me
Can't help but love you more, come back please babe I adore you
Save me, love me, baby would you save me

Now it all seems like I'm falling so fast
Talk about love, ignore me so rash
Take a jab, the eleventh time I feel
That maybe you don't love me anymore
Sip of that beer, everything's gone
How do I know that you're sober when I kneel

Well you should've known that I'd carry you home
Not a step I'd regret all the ache in my bones
Someday or somehow I'll make you return my heart
And you'd be calling

Save me, save me, I loved you for an eternity
Save me, love me, can't help but feel the other side of me
Can't help but love you more, come back please babe I adore you
Save me, love me, baby would you save me

See my face in the crowd
You're leaving what you started
See my face in the crowd
You're leaving what you've given to me

Save me, save me, I loved you for an eternity
Save me, love me, can't help but feel the other side of me
Can't help but love you more, come back please babe I adore you
Save me, love me, baby would you save me
