

Thinking About You

Gentleman

i am thinking about you hope love is found you
all the time neglected it's so unfair
and when it surround you don't let it bound you but for better days be prepared i wonder how u doing out there all the moments u share with the people who nuh even care reality's like a nightmare wake up be aware my concern is your welfare never let dem humiliate you drown and forsake you cause me see dem try underrate you and dem able to hate you but no able to break you now the table a turn have faith in you
i am thinking about you
hope love is found you
all the time neglected it's so unfair
and when it surround you
don't let it bound you
but for better days be prepared simplify yourself and try and find the truth within the lie purify and live your life let in the sun and see the light sometimes you might feel unworthy unlocking motivation in this unkind world but in time and along the journey blessings multiply cause you earn it
i am thinking about you
hope love is found you
all the time neglected it's so unfair
and when it surround you
don't let it bound you
but for better days be prepared empty promises have paved your way look how long u a work and wonder when dem about to pay its hard not to be dismay it seems like your hopes and your dreams will slip away good things take time one day the sun ago shine and yes you can do it if you make up your mind there is no borderline no right or wrong time and the future is yours if [when] you're incline