

Haunted

George Alice

I'm trying hard to please myself
But nothing seems to work and I can't help
Is there anywhere that's worth my place
I'm just a waste of space
But I kinda like it
So I guess I'll wait my turn
No, I don't complain if nothing goes my way
Every sinking day turns blue, it's hard to think of you
But I don't mind it

In other words opposites attract
But we're the opposite of that

I can't speak, I won't wait, I can't wait, it's too late
To tell me you're sorry
Tell me that I'm all that you wanted
Tell me that this love isn't haunted
And I'm tired of waiting for someone to say it
The silence is weighing
Tell me that this love isn't haunted
Tell me that I'm all that you wanted

Showing up at my front porch
You said you wanna go back
How could I ignore that?
I'm closing all the blinds now
Can we just say nevermind now?

I'm waiting for the train to take us back
Why you drive it off the tracks?

I can't speak, I won't wait, I can't wait, it's too late
To tell me you're sorry
Tell me that I'm all that you wanted
Tell me that this love isn't haunted
And I'm tired of waiting for someone to say it
The silence is weighing
Tell me that this love isn't haunted
Tell me that I'm all that you wanted

Every time you call
I don't know where
To try and you'll be back
Push me further away

Well I can't speak, I won't wait, I can't wait, it's too late
To tell me you're sorry
Tell me that I'm all that you wanted
Tell me that this love isn't haunted
And I'm tired of waiting for someone to say it
The silence is weighing
Tell me that this love isn't haunted
Tell me that I'm all that you wanted
