

I Been Young

George Clanton

(Come on, come on, come on)

(Come on, come on, come on)

Chalk it up to them misunderstanding what I said
Making up the rules to win a game inside my head
I think I'm growin' up but nah (if I'm growin')
I'm just growing old
Hanging on to every grudge I think I need to hold
Can't remember who I'm even fighting anymore
You'd think I'd know my way by now
(But I'm lost and...) Now I can't be found

And I've been wrong
And I've been young
Wrong enough to say I'm sorry
Owning up to things I can't undo
And I've been young
Growing up is never easy
Can't you see how life is blinding you?

Young enough to start a life and old enough to die
Waste a couple of years while I make my mind

And I've been wrong
And I've been young
Wrong enough to say I'm sorry
Owning up to things I can't undo
And I've been young
Growing up is never easy
Can't you see how life is blinding you?

Can't you see how life is blinding you?
(Growing up is never)
Easy
