

I'm A Fool For Loving Her

George Jones

How can you say I want you and keep on giving more
You know where I'm going when I walk out the door
She wraps me 'round her finger as any fool can see
But I'm a fool for loving her and you're a fool for loving me.

She doesn't really want me, oh, but she keeps me hangin' on
I'm just someone to talk to when she's all alone
I know you keep on hoping someday she'll set me free
Well, I'm a fool for loving her, you're a fool for loving me.

She stole your pride, now you're nothin' but a fly
It drives me insane still I can't change the way I feel inside
How can you say I love you, I've taken all you have to give
How can you go on livin' the way you have to live
Oh, but here you are beside me still to blind to see
But I'm a fool for loving her and you're a fool for loving me.

I'm a fool for loving her and you're a fool for loving me
