

I Won't Love You Anymore

George Jones

Do you think I'll keep on waitin' for your love while you keep date

Other fellows in this town that think you're free

I can't give something dear for nothing surely this time I'm not bluffing

I won't love you any more than you love me.

You like wordly ways and riches pretty clothes and fancy stitch es

And you think you're living best with all of these

But I know one thing for certain my old heart can't stand this hurtin'

It's not right to love you more than you love me.

I can't run around with everyone to play with you

So why must I be the one who's always so confused

This love affair is far from even and I believe in even steven

I won't love you any more than you love me

It's not right to love you more than you love me...
