

She Hung the Moon

George Jones

Do you see what I see, she's perfect
And she can do no wrong
Well, that's hardly true knowing as I do
But I've loved her for so long.

I think she hung the moon, upside down
And I think she's perfect at turning my world around
And if your heart ever needs breaking she's the best I've ever found
She hung the moon but she hung it upside down.

They say I put her up there
On a pedestool so tall
Well, I hang around down here on the ground
Just to catch her in case she falls.

I think she hung the moon, upside down
I think she's perfect at turning my world around
And if your heart ever needs breaking she's the best I've
ever found
She hung the moon but she hung it upside down...
