

He's 31

Geowulf

He's all fucked up and 31
And I thought I was something
'Cause love's a game to those who play
And end up winning nothing

Why should you find the higher ground?
When you can do what feels so good for now

The silence speaks of what I need
And maybe we should grow up
I'm right behind, so caught in line
It's hard to even see love

Surrender at the bottom 'cause it's hard
Feels like I've been waiting long enough
Why should you find the higher ground
When you can do what feels so good for now

And the aging hasn't changed things
And I know that it was easy to be young
And an existential crisis won't excuse your shit
At almost 31
He's 31

And I can't move while in your room
And I should be more careful
So comfortable and vulnerable
And it just felt so simple

Surrender at the bottom 'cause it's hard
Feels like I've been waiting long enough
Why should you find the higher ground
When you can do what feels so good for now

And the aging hasn't changed things
And I know that it was easy to be young
And an existential crisis won't excuse your shit
At almost 31
He's 31

Surrender at the bottom 'cause it's hard
Feels like I've been waiting long enough
Why should you find the higher ground
When you can do what feels so good for now
When you can do what feels so good for now

He's all fucked up
And 31
And I thought I was something