

Sunshine, Joy, & Happiness

Get Set Go

Cold are the nights that I spend without you
There is no heat to spare, and there is nothing I can do
I am alone (as always)
And I am going mad from the wanting of you (as always)
You disappeared, and I'm wondering with who

There's no more sunshine
There is no happiness in this place
There's no more sunshine
Only a fainting memory of your embrace
Of your smiling face

Long are the days that I spend waiting for you
The hours weigh like stones
As I wonder what to do
I am alone (as always)
And I hurt so bad, I want to kill myself (as always)
You disappeared, and left with someone else

There's no more sunshine
There is no joy or happiness
There's no more sunshine
Only a fainting memory of your sweetest kiss
Of your painted lips

I never will surrender
The hope that you'll remember
The love we loved so tender and perfectly
You never meant to hurt me,
Or thought to desert me
You always say when you return to me

Dark are my thoughts
As I think about you
You, with this other
And the things that you two do
I am alone (as always)
And in the dark I wait, hoping for your return (as always)
You disappeared, will I ever learn?

There's no more sunshine
There is no joy or happiness
There's no more sunshine
Only a fainting memory
There's no more sunshine
There is no happiness in this place
There's no more sunshine
Only a fainting memory
Of your embrace
Of your smiling face
And the love you erased