The clear blue of the sky
The deep red of my feelings
Don't look at me like that
But why, just why
It came to me all of a sudden
It's all your fault that I'm confused
That's right, that's exactly it

All the light in the world is pouring down upon us
I just want to know what's going on

That sun, that sun
From the sky above
We are getting closer
To an uncertain future
The more I chase after it
The further I get from you
Surely the only thing left to do
Is to wait anxiously

My burning feelings now
I'll gather them up and send them to you
All I can think of is you

Even if I call out to you
Even if I'm flailing around panicking
You won't look back at me
I've had enough
I should give up
Are you going to shatter my dreams
Just don't pretend nothing is going on

I am filled with thoughts of you as I fall asleep
Even though nothing is actually going to happen

That sun, that sun
From the sky above
We are getting closer
To an uncertain future
The more I chase after it
The further I get from you
Surely the only thing left to do
Is to wait anxiously

My burning feelings now
I'll gather them up and send them to you
All I can think of is you

My memories are filled with you
I wish I could have talked to you, even just a little
I want you, I wished I could I have reached out
When will you pull me out of this darkness?

This cold light from
The sun, the sun
I tried hiding from it, but there's just no going back
Please catch me before I fall
I was always just waiting
For that one step from you
No matter what it is, please
Just tell me how you feel
