

Mood Ring

Ghost Atlas

If I showed you all that I'm made of
Would you turn your back and walk away?
So, fall, just fall like you always imagined
When you were young and safe, so young, so safe

It was worth it just to hear you say
"I want you and nothing's ever felt this way"
Was it worth it just to hear me say
"I want you and nothing's gonna change"?
But things, you know, they change

If I gave you every ounce of my love
Would you throw it back into my face?
So many letters and images not worth the words
But I still can't seem to make you stay

It was worth it just to hear you say
"I need you and nothing's ever felt this way"
Was it worth it just to hear me say
"I need you and nothing's gonna change"?
But things, you know, they change
Things, you know, they change

I claimed that you couldn't save me if you tried
To you, that was the first and only time I had lied

Things, you know, they change
But this feeling still remains
I'd die just to know you'd stay
Forever young and safe
