

An Unexpected Call

Ghostface Killah

It was an evil day the sun glistened over the city
Shined bright though the window and the eyes of my kitty
I was reluctant, a ball In the pit of my gut
Like the phone call I got was just to set me up
She wouldn't do that, my love had love for the kid
So I slid on my wallows and bounced out the crib
Hit the block about 6 somth, shit got switched up
She pulled 'long inside and said, "Jump in the truck"
So I did, we supposed to be gone for Ziti
She made the wrong turn, I'm like, "Where you goin' to sweetie?"
"

Felt the heat on the back of my neck
Did a mirror check, I didn't know what to expect
I got knocked out and woke up in the melting pot
I heard the DeLucas laughin' and then shit got hot
They said, "Die Tony Starks, you gon' melt like a record!
Never to be remembered, never to be respected!"

Ay ay ayo, hold up, hold up, they said what?
Who said what?
They got Tony?
You serious?

Yo, I got word that my man got offed
Rolling with Logan, I told him, damn that broad It's no surprise why she would do this Word on the streets, she had a side deal working for the DeLuca
s
Word is out, APB, this bird is foul
Put a price on it - the hood searching her house
The DeLucas won't stop without merking us out
We should catch 'em while they celebrating, burst in the crowd
Tony death, shit is working me, vexed
They saying, "Deck chill, it's real and you're certainly next"
Thrown into boiling vinyl, can't let it slide, fool
I guess it's just my time to die too
First find Logan, gotta make her talk
"Who's your boss, where's your boss and who made the call?
Tell me or not, you're sleeping with the fish
But first tell your boss that he will get his"

And I told him 'bout that chick
Shit got me heated, man
Crazy, gonna kill someone
Still gon' pay, somebody gon' pay