

Anna Lee

Giant

There are moments when life pass us by
When a word never said was goodbye
When a love that we shared for a while
Are just memories from when you were mine

But the tears will never dry, baby, now
Do you still care enough to get us through somehow?

Anna Lee, I find it hard to move on
When we said all them words that went wrong
Anna Lee, how could our love carry on
When you found a new place to belong?
Tell me, how do I walk alone?

I remember the words never told
But you promise to have and to hold
In a moment in time you were gone
Without a warning, you left me alone

And the tears will never dry, baby, now
Do you still care enough to get us through somehow?

Anna Lee, I find it hard to move on
When we all say them words that went wrong
Anna Lee, how could our love carry on
When you found a new place to belong?
Tell me, how do I walk alone?

I didn't know how love could turn this way
When it's hard, you're always on my mind
I didn't know if I could hope again

Anna Lee, I find it hard to move on
Anna Lee, how could our love carry on?

Anna Lee, I find it hard to move on
When we said all them words that went wrong
Anna Lee, how could our love carry on
When you found a new place to belong?
Tell me, how do I walk alone?
