

I'll Never Love Again

Gilbert O'Sullivan

Where to begin
The pain I am in
Hard to know when to stop
Out of the blue
A dream came true
Only to see a drop

I'm no genius where love's concerned
More for me to pretend
Whatever it takes while my heart aches
I'll never love again

Days without end
Like those we would spend
Loving our life away
Never have thought
For one being caught
Making the other pay

Don't tell me it'll be alright
If you don't know when
Whatever it means
For now it seems
I'll never love again
I'll never love again

If you think that I overreacted
Tell me why should I care
Do I lie down, accept what I've found
Harder than to make

I don't ask much of anyway
I saw that as a strength
But now with her gone
Until I'll never love again

Always it's true
Whatever you do
Heartbreak is well defined
Catches you out
When you're in no doubt
Nothing is being maligned

Now I could feel I was taken in
Asked her why in the end
I truly believe
For now at least
I'll never love again
