

Break

Gin Blossoms

You can always hope that somehow you can rise above
Empty bottles and regrets always piling up
We don't always want what's easy, never is enough
Not what I set out to be but more than what I was

And I won't break
I won't let it break my heart

You can always walk a hard line, you can stand alone
But, when your dreams die fast they all return as ghosts
Looking out from under shadow, blinded by the sun
With my eyes wide shut, I stare and soak it up

And I won't break
I won't let it break my heart
I crawled out from under
Cost of love
I fall and rise above
And I won't break
(Hey!)

We don't always want what's easy, never is enough
Not what I set out to be but more than what I was

And I won't break
I won't let it break my heart
I crawled out from under
Cost of love
I fall and rise above
And I won't break
I won't break

Close your eyes, hold me tight
Everything is gonna be alright
Close your eyes, hold me tight
Everything is gonna be alright
Close your eyes, hold me tight
Everything is gonna be alright
Close your eyes, hold me tight
Everything is gonna be alright
