

STRANGERS

Giveon

Look like you don't miss me at all
At least that's what I see on the surface
Memories got lost in the fog
But is it even worth it? You look like you're moving on Heard you're seeing someone else, this time you're really gone
Trading pictures on a shelf 'cause you can't be alone
It's only been a couple weeks, so I'm coming off strong, my baby

How we go from "I love you" to "How've you been?"?
All those nights in my arms. How could you forget?
Guess I'm taking this hard
You told me I'm the one
Now I'm a stranger once again

Strangers again (Again)
We become strangers again (Again)
All because you can't love me yet
We become strangers again

Strangers
What did we become?

I know your fam still asks about me. Why you playing dumb?
I know deep down you'd snatch me back if we get time alone
I know your group be chatting 'bout me when it's said and done
They listen to you fantasize about what we can't become

I knew you were gone for sure that time
When you barely even cried
My muse, showed your colors
Went blue to green, now you're out of reach

How we go from "I love you" to "How've you been?"?
All those nights in my arms. How could you forget?
Guess I'm taking this hard
You told me I'm the one
Now I'm a stranger once again

Strangers again (Again)
We become strangers again (Again)
All because you can't love me yet
We become strangers again

Strangers again
Strangers
Strangers again
We become strangers
We become strangers
We become strangers