Stinking masses

Gladiator

A decision outlives the world fall to the whirl of life a birth, effort, carrer's scent torment one self dying before thinking life is terrible torture rescue has begun original pain in the end

Curse people's place stinking masses of death stinking disgust all curse world around you

Greed breeds the unknowing they will live in fear they own unfragrant flower unhappy false happiness division of blind ways you can't find the middle only the last question: the light or the dark?

You're rejected man, humble wonder your life hasn't sense for them you're a wonder if you don't want to climb burned land, your hear undesirable voice

Let them live in deceit to rot in their scent you don't want to go you bloom in pain
a scent from hollows of death demaged by the stink of your person decay of stining masses demaged by the structure of your person
