

Bluebirds

Glaive

Asheville flight to Austin, bluebirds fly in flocks
And I'm one call away if you need to talk
And I understand in whatever way I can
Don't let things you've lost define the things you have

It sounds strange, but you've had a hell of a time, are you feeling alright?

As things change, you'll start to realize it gets better with time

I will say that she ain't the love of your life if it's only sometimes

Either way, you've had one hell of a night, are you feeling alright?

Warsaw to London, Warsaw from Prague

I understand, man, I've felt it all

The person that you love ain't the person that they are

The person that you love ain't the person that they are

What else can I say except some played-out cliché

About how right now it's hard, but it gets better every day?

And what else can I say except some played-out cliché

About how right now it's hard, but it gets better if you wait?

So just wait

It sounds strange, but you've had a hell of a time, are you feeling alright?

As things change, you'll start to realize it gets better with time

I will say that she ain't the love of your life if it's only sometimes

Either way, you've had one hell of a night, are you feeling alright?
