

Sew Your Mouth Shut

Glass Tides

Is it just your point of view
Is it just the thought you're thinking
I am so sick of hearing from you
Is it just the words you say
Is it just the games you play
I am so sick of feeling the pain

Did you know that it all comes back around
When they take what you want and it burns you down
When it feels like the pain never goes away
It haunts you every day
Is it fair if you point and discriminate
Calling names just to make yourself big again
Have a think about the life that you wanna take
It haunts you every day
Your words save lives
Sew your mouth shut

Does it help to scream and shout
Does it fix the endless doubt
I am so sick of hearing from you
Pass the blame to someone new
Take the fear I see in you
I am so sick of hearing from you

Did you know that it all comes back around
When they take what you want and it burns you down
When it feels like the pain never goes away
It haunts you every day
Is it fair if you point and discriminate
Calling names just to make yourself big again
Have a think about the life that you wanna take
It haunts you every day
Your words save lives
Sew your mouth shut

Looking at the mess that you've made
All because you're stuck inside the games that you play
You don't wanna feel it so you give it away
All because you're stuck inside the games that you play

Did you know that it all comes back around
When they take what you want and it burns you down
When it feels like the pain never goes away
It haunts you every day
Is it fair if you point and discriminate
Calling names just to make yourself big again
Have a think about the life that you wanna take
It haunts you every day
Your words save lives
Sew your mouth shut
