

Do What You Gotta Do

Glen Campbell

Where do you go when there's nowhere to go And you don't want to be where you are Where do you run when there's no run to run and you've already run too far What good is love when you offer your love but nobody wants to buy
Why do I cry and why am I wondering why What can you say when there's so much to say but nobody listens to you
And what good are dreams if there's no more than dreams
That don't have a chance to come true
And what can you do when love that you do will ease your troubl ed mind
And where do you go when you come to the end of the line
What can you say...
