

There's More Pretty Girls Than One

Glen Campbell

Look down that long lonesome road.
Hang down your little head and cry.
I'm thinking bout' those pretty little girls and hoping that I'll never die.
Cause there's more pretty girls than one.
There's more pretty girls than one.
Every town I've rambled round
There's more pretty girls than one.

Well Mama told me last night.
She gave me some good advice.
She said you better quit your rambling round.
And marry yourself a lovin' wife.
But there's more pretty girls than one.
There's more pretty girls than one.
Every town I've rambled round
There's more pretty girls than one.

Well girl why did you turn me down?
And leave me here all alone.
So I'm leaving you with this lonesome song,
to sing when I'm long gone.
Cause there's more pretty girls than one.
There's more pretty girls than one.
Every town I've rambled round,
yes there's more pretty girls than one
