

You Are

Glen Campbell

You are an eagle on the wind
A diamond in the rough
A rare and special thing
You are the music in my soul
A painter's finest parchment
A poem from the heart

And everything that's beautiful you are

You are a true and timeless friend
A smile that never questions
A love that never ends
You are the one that takes my hand
And tells me all I have to do is wish upon a star

Every time I need you then you are

You are a fire that's burning bright
That keeps me from the cold
And warms me thru the night
You are my reason to believe
That love is all that life can be
Someday I hope you will see

Just how much a part of me you are
