

The Valiant Denial

Glenn Hughes

You've been misled By the thoughts in your head Entangled with your dark endeavor Your angels tread And the blood has been shed I'm telling you it's now or never Lost in a stream With your own malady For as long as you know And forever In god you depend When it comes to the end Such a long way to go Such a long way to go

The valiant denial The great untold The valiant denial The lies unfold The valiant denial The great untold

I wonder why And you never reply It's always the same with your ego Caught in a lie I just cannot rely You're filled with the shame But you don't know

You raise the shield You will never be healed Such a long way to go Such a long way to go

The valiant denial The great untold The valiant denial The lies
unfold The valiant denial The great untold

The valiant denial