Guiding Light

Gnash

Amelia had the ocean, and Daniel had the waves
The two of them together, forever and always
The stars above were jealous, stayed out of the way
A love like this took centuries to make

That's how this love feels to me
Center of my universe and always meant to be
That's why this love feels alive
Even in the darkness we can see the guiding light

All these estimations based on Greek mythology
But counting constellations never made much sense to me
Like peanut butter jelly, salt and pepper in our bellies, Maril yn and Kennedy
Golden rings and diamond things, they'll always be, eternally

That's how this love feels to me
Center of my universe and always meant to be
That's why this love feels alive
Even in the darkness we can see the guiding light

You and I, it's a story book as old as time
Black and white we read between the lines
So when you look me in the eyes
You can see that guiding light

Tonight, it's a fairy tale as old as time
It's like I've known you over half my life
So when I look you in the eyes
I can see that guiding light

We can see that guiding light
