

Destroy the Day

God Module

For what it's worth let me destroy the day
That you came into this world of shame
Remember to forget that we're not the same
Dying to be born in a fucked up dream
Dream
Take heed lest any man deceive
For many will run from the wolves Black sheep
Pretending to care about your disbelief
A noose around your neck as they sing you to sleep

I would never turn my back on you
Even if the world demanded me to
Their time has passed - they wont return
We can stand on the stage and watch them burn
Let's create a place where we never age
Re-write the rules - page by page
Sleep through the night because there is no day
Counting all the stars as they waste away

You haven't proved anything
You're begging for the pain that tomorrow will bring
Bathing your sins in the bloody rain
Never taking the time to enjoy your fame
If you tried to create another version of me
No known magic could help you succeed
Accept that I'm something you could never be
Now slit your throats on the count of three

One Two Three

I would never turn my back on you
Even if the world demanded me to
Their time has passed - they wont return
We can stand on the stage and watch them burn
Let's create a place where we never age
Sleep through the night because there is no day
Counting all the stars as they waste away
