Doppelganger

God Module

"Who.."

Let's celebrate the superstition
By pulling our teeth & biting our tongues
Don't speak for fear of what is missing
I am the opposite of what you'll become

Light a candle for the dead to find their way home
Leave a gift for the ungrateful
Don't move for the fear that you are not alone
An invitation to the supernatural

Something in my eyes reminded her of you
Go to the mirror & push your bleeding hands through
There is no reason in the world that matters
You're my mistake, my doppelganger

Let's erase the moon in the bright black sky
Throw the bones to forget our past
Reject our memories for what they symbolize
We'll make forever end so fast

There is no forgiveness left to find
I can feel the failure of the savior
An empty shell, you're a fucking waste of time
The angel falls with the kiss of a razor

Something in my eyes reminded her of you
Go to the mirror & push your bleeding hands through
There is no reason in the world that matters
You're my mistake, my doppelganger
