

Hindsight

God Module

I wouldn't steal what was already mine
Malicious intent, your heart is unkind
Open me up and crawl inside
Into a secret place that they'll never find

An alternate dimension
Where nobody knows my name
A coerced confession
I'll take all the blame

Losing my mind in a black September
I can't forget what I can't remember

I always thought you knew
That the nightmares were coming true

Wasting my time on another obsession
What I really feel cannot be mentioned

I always thought you knew
My lies were all true

Follow the path back home

Evidence shows we all die alone
Torn with thorns and broken bones
Questioning the answers to the unknown

An alternate dimension
Where nobody knows my name
A coerced confession
I'll take all the blame

Losing my mind in a black September
I can't forget what I can't remember

I always thought you knew
That the nightmares were coming true

Wasting my time on another obsession
What I really feel cannot be mentioned

I always thought you knew
My lies were all true

I always thought you knew

My lies were all true