Analyze this chemistry Producing poison And creeping in your veins For the love of blood

The poison slowly spreads
Through the body and the mind
Close your eyes and drop your things
Be ready to fly

You are now, high In the sun, burn You're away, alive On the moon, round

After walking all the miles Consumed into your bones And breathing all the dust Of the desert land

I know that all along You were doing it for absolution It's written in your eyes

You are now, high In the sun, burn You're away, alive On the moon, round

Away
Just want to fly away, always higher
Away
Embrace the light on the other side