Future

Golden Earring

You better get out of the line of fire If you wanna stay alive I always knew it would take a liar In this brave new world to survive

It's gonna happen in the future
It didn't happen in the past

Rule and divide and control the seven seas Your power and pride guarantee defeat So fine, your lips on mine light a dangerous flame When love grows in exile, it'll find you back again

They shot you down on the steps of a white house Climbin' out to rescue me
They said you made a giant step for mankind
And the plate's still empty, "c'est la vie"

It's gonna happen in the future It didn't happen in the past