

Missing You Lately

Goldroom

Is it too late to say goodbye
Cause I'm in over my head
Was I wrong to take a side?
Cause you've been messing with my head tonight

I've been ramblin' way too long
And my feet are weary now
But the wind is blowing stronger
I can turn this all around
I'll get back to you somehow
If conviction will allow
Now I'm missing you

I've been racing way too long to find another
I've been chasing memories about that summer
Over and over
Stay awake until the morning comes
Wondering were we just too young
But you're the one
I think I'll turn around and find you baby
Missing you, missing you, missing you lately

Is it too late to say hello
Cause I keep staring at my phone
But you know I had to let you go
But now I'm lying here all alone

I've been ramblin' way too long
And my feet are weary now
But the wind is blowing stronger
I can turn this all around
I'll get back to you somehow
If conviction will allow
Now I'm missing you (missing you)

I've been racing way too long to find another (find another)
I've been chasing memories about that summer
Over and over
Stay awake until the morning comes
Wondering were we just too young
But you're the one
I think I'll turn around and find you baby
Missing you, missing you, missing you lately