Gomey

I've traveled across the land and sea
Searching for my remedy
I've scratched the surface of my dreams
But I'm still caught here in between

Oh, where do I belong?
Someone tell me
So I keep holding on
Holding on

I believe there's somebody out there that I
Know would open my eyes up
Trying to see if it's greener on the other side
On the other side

I believe there's somebody out there that I
Know would open my eyes up
Trying to see if it's greener on the other side
On the other side

I've traveled across the land and see
Searching for my remedy
I've scratched the surface of my dreams
But I'm still caught here in between

Oh, where do I belong?
Someone tell me
So I keep holding on
Holding on

I believe there's somebody out there that I
Know would open my eyes up
Trying to see if it's greener on the other side
On the other side

On the other side
On the other side
Trying to see if it's greener on the other side
On the other side

I believe there's somebody out there that I
Know would open my eyes up
Trying to see if it's greener on the other side
On the other side
