

Driving South

Goth Babe

Hello?
Can I help you?
Would you take me out there?
Alright
Time to go out there this morning

Darlin', don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?
Don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?

Lay your heads on the fading light
We sleep 'til noon and our days are kind

And only for the month of September
We would've stayed half alive
And only for the trees that stay green
They keep me from losin' my mind

Darlin', don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?
Don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?

I feel the breeze pick up and it's time
I've seen my breath and I know it's fine

And only for the month of September
We would've stayed half alive
And only for the trees that stay green
They keep me from losin' my mind

Darlin', don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?
Don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?
Don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?
Don't you know it's time for another
Time for another review?
