

All This Time

Gothminister

Fate is all that matters now
It's all in vain if you're sane
I worship darkness
Loving my life in the rain
But slowly, emptiness repents
It replaces the pain
But I'm waiting for a sign

And once again, life is a riddle
Am I too blind to see my mistakes?
And once again, life is a riddle
Am I too blind to see my mistakes?

Time was all that mattered then
How could you leave here like this?
I worship darkness
Still, I know now what I miss
The most important thing of all
That I cannot replace
The monster that I did create

And once again, life is a riddle
Am I too blind to see my mistakes?
And once again, nothing will change
Am I too blind to see my mistakes?

In life
See my mistakes
See my mistakes

I always thought you'd see my mistakes in life
Do you forgive me?
How can I make it right?

Life is going on now
Morning will come, it has no choice
You left me wondering
Who guides me without your voice?
How could you leave me here to die?
We didn't even say goodbye

And once again, life is a riddle
Am I too blind to see my mistakes?
And once again, life is a riddle
Am I too blind to see my mistakes?

In life
I always thought you'd see my mistakes in life
Do you forgive me?
How can I make it right?
And once again, life is a riddle
Am I too blind to see my mistakes?
In life